

MAKING SHARP SEARCH FOR APPLITON STREET FIREBUG

DISTRICT CHIEF GRAD DIRECTS INVESTIGATION

Three Persons Indicted by the Grand Jury for Alleged Incendiarism.

FLAMES IMPERIL LIVES

With three persons indicted today by the Suffolk County grand jury on the charge of setting a fire in the city of Boston, the district chief of the fire department has engaged with the investigation of the three incendiaries. The fire, which broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street, which was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street.

Third Fire Incendiarist.
On investigating he found the chamber was occupied by a male boarder, who had left the room a few minutes before the fire broke out. The district chief directed the investigation of the three incendiaries. The fire, which broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street.

Inmates All Asleep.
All the inmates of the fire house at No. 24 Appliton street, which was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street, were asleep at the time the fire broke out.

The fire broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, which was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street. The fire, which broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street.

Is Fireman's Sister.
Mrs. Henry is a sister of Ladderman, who was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street. The fire, which broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street.

The fire broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, which was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street. The fire, which broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street.

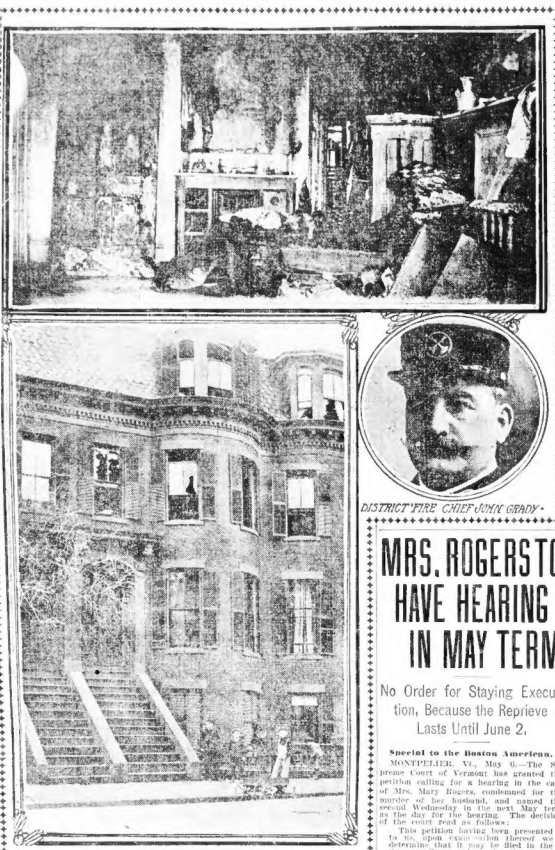

Now you see Red Bird and now you see the wolf. Don't miss "The Magic Fence," the great supplement given away with Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN.

HARVARD WINS PALE DEBATE

Harvard has again won the annual debate with Yale. Before a big crowd in Boston, the Harvard team defeated the Yale team. The debate was held at the Harvard-Yale debate.

Resolved, That a Commission Be Given to the Harvard-Yale debate. The debate was held at the Harvard-Yale debate.

Harvard has again won the annual debate with Yale. Before a big crowd in Boston, the Harvard team defeated the Yale team. The debate was held at the Harvard-Yale debate.

By Boston American Staff Photographers.

FIRE CHIEF: SCENE OF INCENDIARY BLAZE.

The fire broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, which was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street. The fire, which broke out at No. 24 Appliton street, was the first of the kind in the city since the fire at No. 24 Appliton street.

RAT CRIME, KOMPANED, SUPREMACY IN SELF

TO STAND TRIAL FOR STEALING YOUNG SON OF MILLIONAIRE CUDAHY AT OMAHA.

OMAHA, Mo., May 6.—The Omaha, Mo., police have arrested a man who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire. The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha.

By Returned Home.
The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha. The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha.

Offered to Surrender.
The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha. The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha.

Offered to Surrender.
The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha. The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha.

Offered to Surrender.
The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha. The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha.

Offered to Surrender.
The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha. The man, who is charged with the theft of the young son of a millionaire, was arrested in Omaha.

DISTRICT FIRE CHIEF JOHN GRAD.

MRS. ROBERTS TO HAVE HEARING IN MAY TERM

No Order for Staying Execution, Because the Reprieve Lasts Until June 2.

Special to the Boston American, MONTPELIER, Vt., May 6.—The Supreme Court of Vermont has granted the petition for a hearing in the case of Mrs. Mary Roberts, who was sentenced to the gallows for the murder of her husband.

The petition for a hearing was presented to the court by the Vermont State Prison. The court has granted the petition for a hearing in the case of Mrs. Mary Roberts.

LOVELAND BUNNELL
The court has granted the petition for a hearing in the case of Mrs. Mary Roberts. The court has granted the petition for a hearing in the case of Mrs. Mary Roberts.

What sort of a wife does Millionaire Smith want?
Old Rich? Young? Poor? Mr. Smith is a $500,000 bachelor, and he is looking for a wife.

OTTAWA RIFLES HERE JULY 4
The Ottawa Rifles are expected to arrive in Boston for the July 4 celebration. The Ottawa Rifles are expected to arrive in Boston for the July 4 celebration.

STORY OF AMBASSADOR PORTER
The story of Ambassador Porter's mission to the United States is being told in a new book. The story of Ambassador Porter's mission to the United States is being told in a new book.

KING EDWARD WILL TURN TYPEWRITER
King Edward will be turning typewriter in a new book. King Edward will be turning typewriter in a new book.

STORY OF AMBASSADOR PORTER
The story of Ambassador Porter's mission to the United States is being told in a new book. The story of Ambassador Porter's mission to the United States is being told in a new book.

KING EDWARD WILL TURN TYPEWRITER
King Edward will be turning typewriter in a new book. King Edward will be turning typewriter in a new book.

STORY OF AMBASSADOR PORTER
The story of Ambassador Porter's mission to the United States is being told in a new book. The story of Ambassador Porter's mission to the United States is being told in a new book.

EVICTED, 9 SLEEP UPON BARE FLOOR

Furniture Taken and Doors Removed, Family Spends Night in a Vacant House.

With the doors locked of their house and all the furniture removed from the house, Mr. and Mrs. Langel and their seven children, five boys and two girls, were left to sleep on the bare floor of the house at corner of Paul and Revere streets, Beverly, four miles from the city. The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

The police were called upon to investigate the case, and they found the family sleeping on the floor, with all their clothing and furniture removed. The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

HOTEL SUICIDE WELL KNOWN THIS CITY

Continued From First Page.

from the hotel, later told me, when the police were called upon to investigate the case, and they found the family sleeping on the floor, with all their clothing and furniture removed. The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

"Your Chum and Pal"
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Reverend Report.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

Revenge, Says Mother.
The family was evicted from the house in the afternoon, and after struggling with the landlord, Mr. Langel, who was at the house when the furniture was removed, was not at home when the police arrived.

FIND NEW CLUES IN LOST BABY MYSTERY

MISS HELEN SULLIVAN—SCHOOL TEACHER WHO LAST SAW BOY.

Continued From First Page.

The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

Find Bone and Buttons.
The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Stuart's DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

Stuart's DYSPEPSIA TABLETS. The first time that she believed that her little boy had been kidnapped for ransom. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason. She could not see why the child could have been kidnapped for any other reason.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN
Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents. Hearst's BOSTON AMERICAN. Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents.

NEW ENGLAND NEWS-PAPER
Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents. Hearst's BOSTON AMERICAN. Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN
Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents. Hearst's BOSTON AMERICAN. Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN
Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents. Hearst's BOSTON AMERICAN. Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents.

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN
Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents. Hearst's BOSTON AMERICAN. Published daily and Sunday at 10 cents.

1

OF THOMSON CO., BOSTON, MASS.

1000

[illegible][illegible]

Journal of Management Studies, 2006; 43(7): 1198–1214

[illegible]

HEARST'S BOSTON AMERICAN

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, MAY 6, 1905.

A New Factory for Thieves, Forgers
and Failures Inaugurated

We Have Seen the Opening of Belmont Park, a New Racing Establishment and Gambling Hell, Where the Laws Will Be Broken and Men Ruined. That a Few of the Disgraced and Prosperous May Enjoy Their "Sport" at the Expense of Public Decency.

lieve that it is a criminal outrage to permit a few men to make money and amusement from the ruin of tens of thousands, who will deplore, as we do, the inauguration of this disreputable gambling resort under the name of "Belmont Park."

Every big merchant will tell you that he expects to have some of his money stolen and given to the bookmakers at that park. Millions of stolen money will go to those bookmakers, each of whom pays a hundred dollars a day to certain "gentlemen" of the Jockey Club for the privilege of stealing from the general public. It is not the MONEY lost that counts. The serious thing is the lost and ruined MANHOOD.

The head of the detective force in New York will tell you that more than half of all the thieves and other criminals with whom he deals ARE MADE CRIMINALS BY THE RACETRACK.

The killing that attracts attention at this moment is the killing of "Caesar" Young, a racetrack blackleg, whose stolen money made one girl disreputable and has cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars for one murder trial.

That sum on the top of civilization which we call "society" is celebrating the inauguration of this new gambling hell, where the laws are violated, where men are made dishonest, where families are made poor, all that a few worthless, selfish, dissipated, dishonest gamblers, racehorse owners and other mis-called "gentlemen" may pay for their amusement with the money and the honesty and the HAPPINESS of the public.

You cannot, of course, blame August Belmont, who invests his money in this gambling institution. You cannot blame any of the men who promote this form of vice.

They know no better. They are ignorant as to what they do.

The bookmakers pay them a hundred dollars a day each—which means ten thousand dollars a day in all. And through perverted legislation the Jockey Club allows the bookmakers to rob the public as freely as they choose.

The narrow-minded, ignorant, self-indulgent creatures who make up our so-called "society" haven't brains enough to know the work that they do when they demoralize tens of thousands of men and women, making spendthrifts, failures of nearly all their victims, and thieves of a great many.

The public cannot blame these self-indulgent, dissipated racehorse gamblers. Their ignorant opinion is their almost sufficient excuse. But although the public cannot BLAME them, it ought to CONTROL them.

The merchants who protest against the racetracks, protest against the open gambling houses in which young men are ruined and employers robbed, should organize in their own defence.

They should not leave it to a newspaper alone to protest against the shameful twisting of the law which permits the opening of this gambling dive called Belmont Park.

The interests of commerce, of all respectable business, forbid gambling.

There should be manhood enough in the citizenship of the whole United States TO STOP THE SHAMEFUL VICE.

If a citizen in a beer saloon bets a dollar HE CAN BE PUT IN JAIL. If an ordinary man of small means starts a game of poker—that could, at most, corrupt a dozen men—he goes to prison.

If a negro plays some trifling gambling game, he must go to prison. But the "gentlemen" of the Jockey Club are permitted to open their gambling hell publicly. They license a hundred blacklegs in the betting ring, taking a hundred dollars a day from each. Thousands and tens of thousands are bet openly.

The merchants, the police, the clergy, every element that is decent protests against this crime—and still it goes on. BECAUSE A FEW OF THE RICH WHO CAN INFLUENCE LEGISLATION WANT THE EXCITEMENT OF RACING AND GAMBLING—and they want the ignorant, foolish, deluded masses to pay the bill, even if they steal the money to pay it.

Mr. Belmont has told the world that he looks upon this new gambling institution on Long Island as his "monument."

A fine monument, truly! A noble ambition a man must have who glories in an institution that will teach thousands of young men to steal, that will fill thousands of prison cells, impoverish many thousands of women and children!

What a very nice civilization it is which permits Mr. Belmont, on the one hand, to control the transportation of New York City, to defeat the unions striving for decent pay, and, on the other hand, to use the money which the public franchise gives him to establish a gambling institution more harmful even than his usurpation of the public property.

How long are these racetrack gambling hells to thrive? Is there no judge that has read the Constitution and that will prevent this open gambling?

One single judge in New Jersey—a man of character and courage and with an eye single to the law—closed the gambling hells that disgraced Long Branch.

Will any judge in New York State close this gambling institution that is called Belmont Park?

If any judge wants evidence, we will take him to that park and let him see hundreds of thousands of dollars bet openly.

No judge would allow such a violation of the Constitution in a tenebment. Why is it that the New York State Constitution itself can be violated, because a few rich men are interested in a gambling institution, and want to turn public misfortune into private sport?

"STRANGE, ALL THIS DIFFERENCE SHOULD BE 'TWINX JOHNNY R. AND ANDY C."

Copyright, 1905, by American Journal Examiner.

Criminologist Sees Flaws in Jury System

By Cesare Lombroso

A majority of the people think that the jury system is not only the last expression of progress and civilization, but also a novel reform introduced in the administration of justice.

Such is not the case. The jury is perhaps one of the oldest institutions in the world; and as to its being a success I have my doubts.

Let us first investigate its origin. By so doing, we will find that the jury system is a product of democracy. And who will ever say that democracy is new?

The governments "by the people"—even if they are not "for the people"—have always existed. It is a well-known fact that many of the primitive races, such as the Incas of Mexico, possessed a complete and most admirable republican organization, based on sound principles of individual rights and democracy. The Incas called upon the system of jurors—a thing which greatly surprised their Spanish conquerors—and according to the same and other historians their legal methods and proceedings were very much the same as those employed today by the foremost nations of the world.

As I have said before, I have my doubts as to the efficiency of the jury system. As a matter of fact, I consider it much less efficient than the tribunal, and were I asked to express an opinion, I would withhold hesitation, myself against it, so much as it exists today.

In the first place, while it is true that one man is more liable to error than two or three, it must be admitted that eight or twelve men are more exposed to error than two or three.

In most cases the majority of the jurors are men of good moral principles, but absolutely ignorant of matters of law. Such men may mean well, but they often do wrong.

Advocates of the jury system claim that, in order to appreciate the evidence in a legal case, it is enough to have common sense. Not quite so, and besides, do ALL jurors really have "common sense"?

The jurors, in some instances, are made to swear, before they are admitted, that they have not formed a personal opinion of the case which they are called upon to decide. This is hardly credible, especially if it is a sensational case—and on the other hand, if they are really to be trusted, if they have not formed an opinion, can we have much confidence in the "common sense" of such men?

We admit that there is nothing so sacred as a man's life; at the same time we admit that there is nothing so extremely difficult as to be a good judge; and yet we place, every day, the lives of many hundreds of men in the hands of people who have no right to be considered good judges for the simple reason that they ignore the A. B. C. of law.

A juror may unjustly condemn a man because of a mistake, or he may unjustly let the prisoner go free because of error of other kind; but this is not the point. In the first place, he knows the facts, and in the second place, he knows his reputation too badly to be prejudiced.

A juror, on the other hand, is more liable to error either way, because he does not know his duties, and, because he can save his reputation by simply swearing that he is doing what "his life and soul" he thinks is right.

MRS. HAMMER MEETS MRS. CROWBAR

Copyright, 1905, by American Journal Examiner.

1. MRS. HAMMER—Yes, I believe in cultivating the society of young people; of sharing in their joys, their pleasures and their pastimes.

2. MRS. CROWBAR—You, Mr. Crowbar was wouldn't you only let young people do anything the society of elderly people. He said: "Just look at Mrs. Hammer, she goes with young people. What is the result? Why, she's taken her to be as young as you."

Fire is the test of gold; adversity of a strong man. SENECA.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG

By Caroline

UNTIL recently we have been taught to respect and admire old age. And it's a respect we have paid willingly, because we were perfectly sure, if we lived long enough, we would be respected for the same thing.

Now Dr. Oiler has changed all this. He has made respect for old age old-fashioned, and we who are growing old have nothing to look forward to except chloroform, unless we can learn to keep young.

The best way to keep young is to feel young. And the best way to feel young is to learn how young people feel. It is such a simple remedy that most people won't try it.

They think they must go to foreign climes in search of the fountain of youth—that they must pay a large sum to some scoundrel who will divulge the secret to them, or that they must consult a doctor who will give them some wonderful prescription for preserving the complexion, and so make them look young.

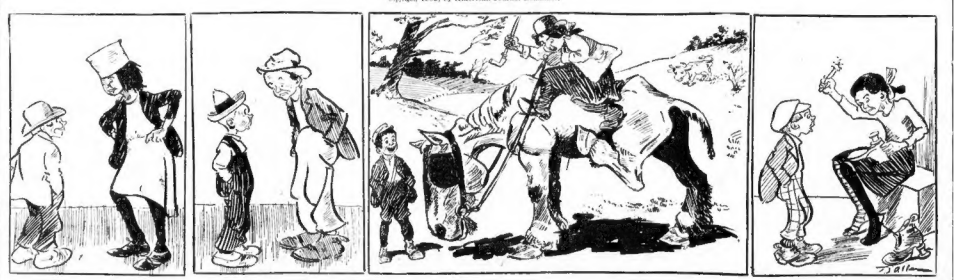

But youth is a question of heart and feeling. So, if you would keep your youth, know to children. Not in the way so many people know them. Don't be trying to teach them something all the time.

Just be with them, play with them, sympathize with their troubles and take pleasure in their joys; learn what they have to teach. When you have learned that, you have learned of the fountain of youth.

No man ever became extremely wicked all at once. JUVENAL.

JUST KIDS

Copyright, 1905, by American Journal Examiner.

"What's that you've got on your head, Annie?"

"That's my new Easter hat."

"Oh, I thought it was the family groutier hat."

"No, Annie, if you ever want to be as good as your dad's old car, you'll have to learn him to get awfully high in public."

"Yes, Marie, and you're calling them the high heels."

"Why, silly, these high heels are all so high."